Nine Keith students inducted into the National Honor Society

ROCKFORD, IL – Nine Keith Country Day School students were inducted into the National Honor Society (NHS) today. Established in 1921, the NHS is a recognition program for high school students who show achievement in scholarship, leadership, service and character.

“We are very proud of these students,” said Betty Giesen, Head of School. “The NHS is a wonderful way for Keith Country Day School to further our students’ enthusiasm for scholarship, community service, leadership and to develop character.”

A chapter school since 1998, the students were selected by a council of five Keith faculty members. The 2009 NHS class includes:

Lamise Al-Basha, Farzeen Harunani, Sarah Ikenberry, Anne Jaconette, Julianne Keith, Minh Pham, Katie Schulz, Jessica Ross and Hyun Yi.

Keith Country Day School is an independent, nonsectarian, college-preparatory school. Located on a 15-acre campus overlooking the Rock River, Keith serves students from age three through grade 12 from the Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin area. The school is a member of the National Association of Independent Schools and fully-accredited by the Independent Schools Association of the Central States and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. More information about Keith School is available at www.keithschool.com.
